

The White Horses Locations – Ep 12 A Dogs Life

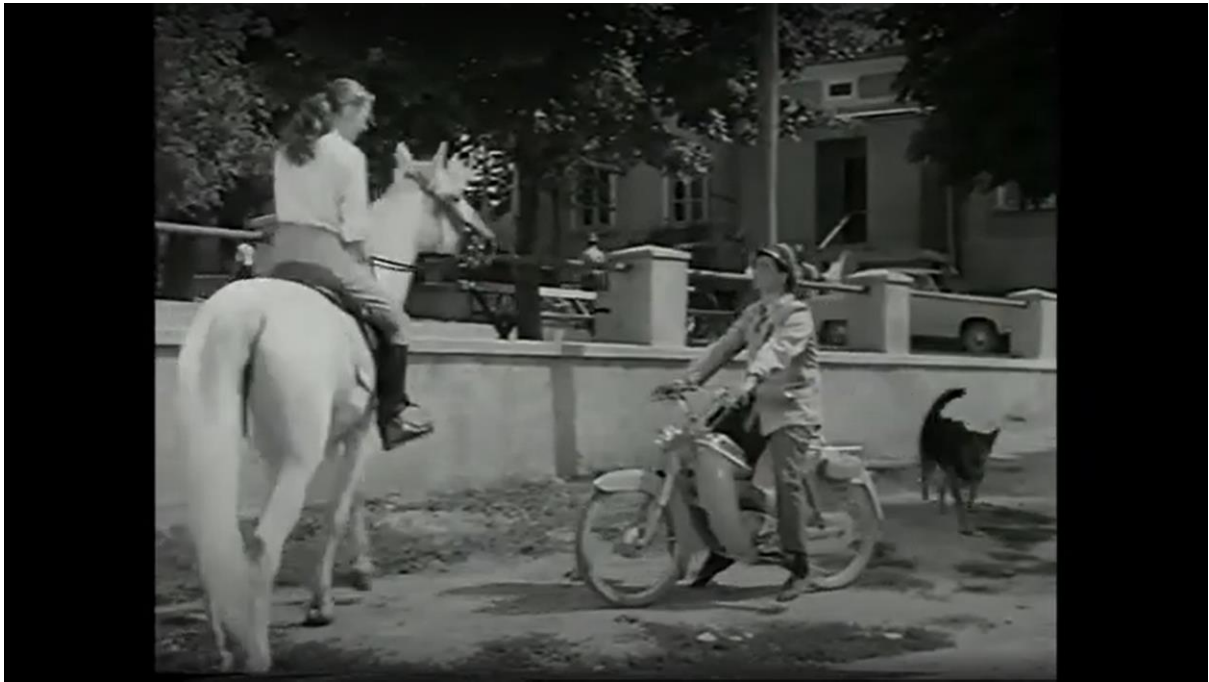

Pieno the postman is delivering letters to people who live on the stud farm and stops to talk with Julia

Image supplied by Robert Krmec on Google maps

The Church on the stud farm is just visible in the background on the right side of this image

Pieno and Julia are talking but Boris is a little agitated with Hektor excitedly running around

Image supplied by Gasper Pavlin on Google maps

An opposite view of the location with the apartment building in the background

Jelena rushes down from her apartment to see Pieno, she clearly has a crush on him and is jealous of Julia talking to him

Image supplied by Tilen Koklic on Google maps

The building and gardens has recently undergone a complete renovation although the balcony and steps appear to be untouched

Jelena stays in the background and picks some flowers, Pieno notices her and has come over to hand her some letters and to spend time talking to her. She offers him a flower and Pieno accepts which had delighted Jelena

Image supplied by Robert Krmec on Google maps

The gardens have lost the low wall which was just beyond the steps

Pieno returns to his scooter and to say goodbye to Julia, Jelena becomes upset that he has returned to Julia and has called Hektor to heel before storming off leaving Julia and Pieno to continue on their way, a bit mystified with Jelena's tantrum

Image supplied by Robert Krmeč on Google maps

The Church at Lipica. The hedge rows have been removed but the steps to the church are the same

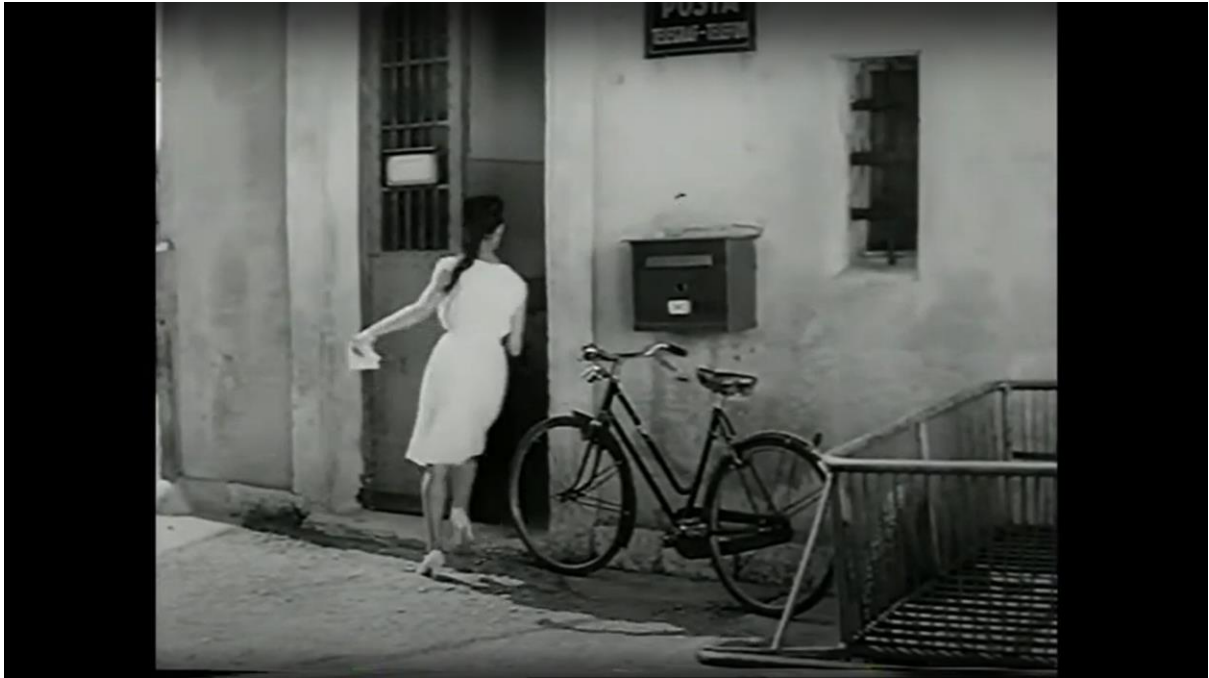

Jelena is still upset and being told she can't go to the dance in the evening is adding to her obvious frustration

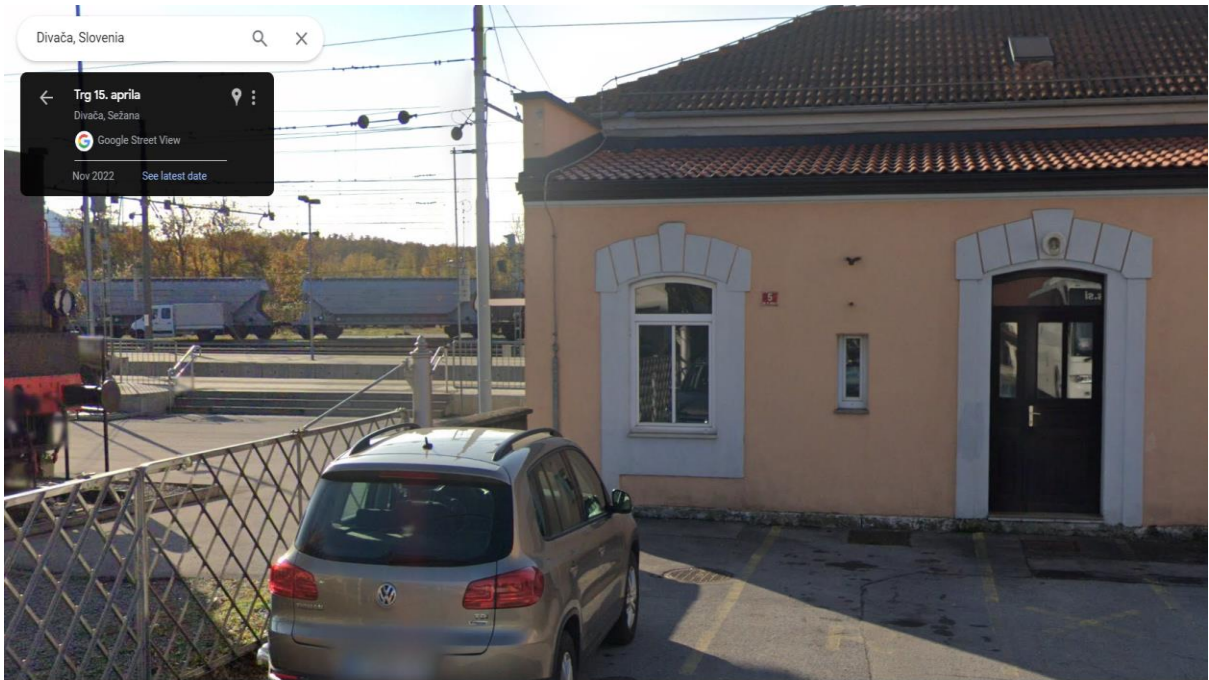

Image supplied by Tilan Koklic on Google maps

The background view today, the path has been straightened and the sloping roof section of the building has been removed

Having applied makeup, Jelena enters the post office in a misguided attempt to talk to Pieno

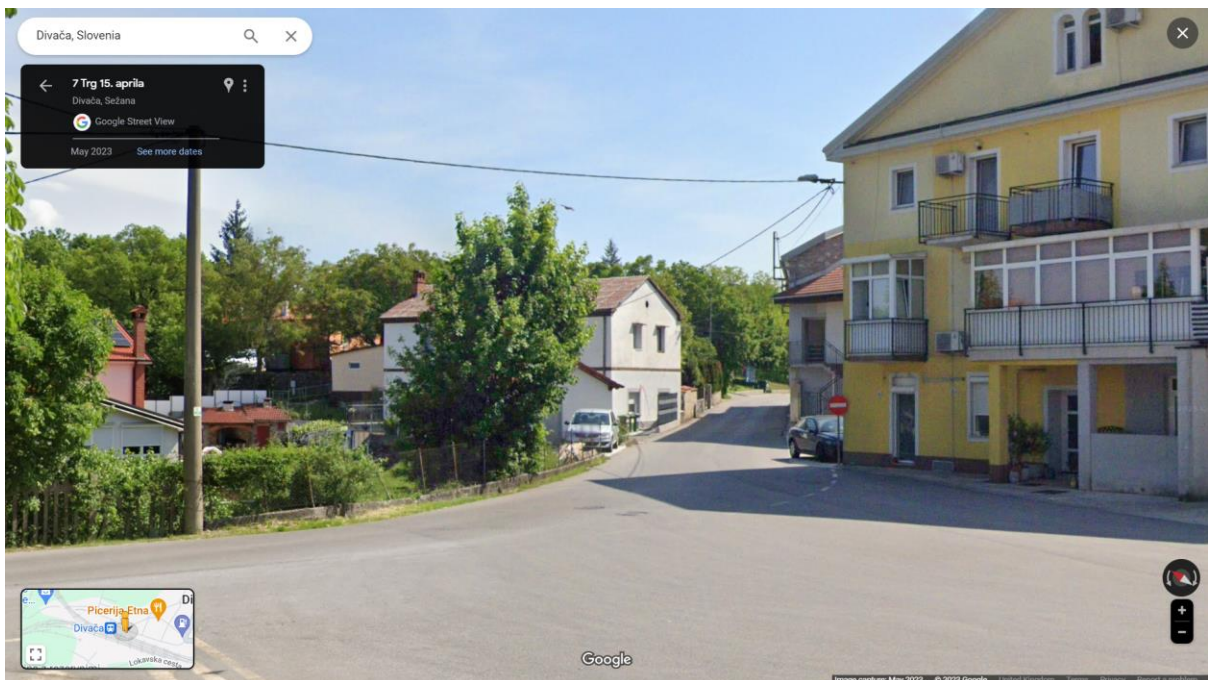

This is at the railway station in Divica, the building has been extended to the right of the narrow window

And the door moved from its original position

Pieno arrives back at the post office with Jelena still inside. Her father also happens to be passing in the carriage

Her day is getting worse, how much more can go wrong?

Directly opposite Divaca railway station

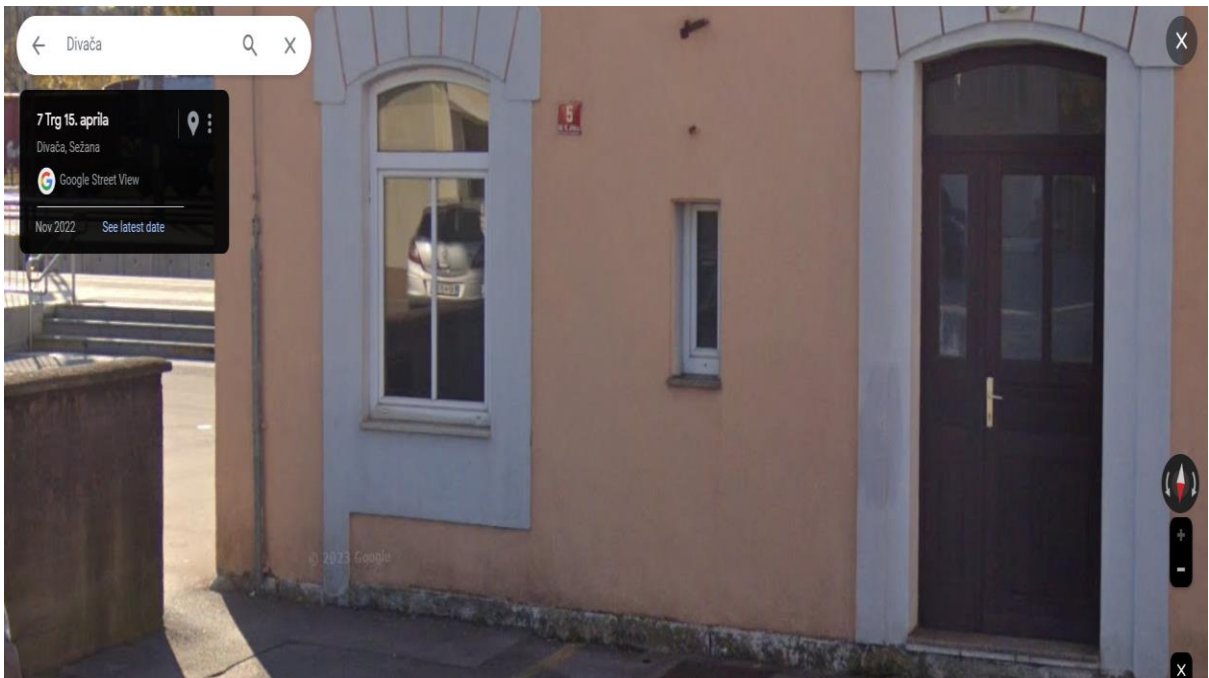

There are a few alterations to the front of the big building on the right

Pieno parks his scooter under the narrow window as Jelenas father gives him a message to pass on to his brother about a job at Lipica

Note the small pipe just above the window

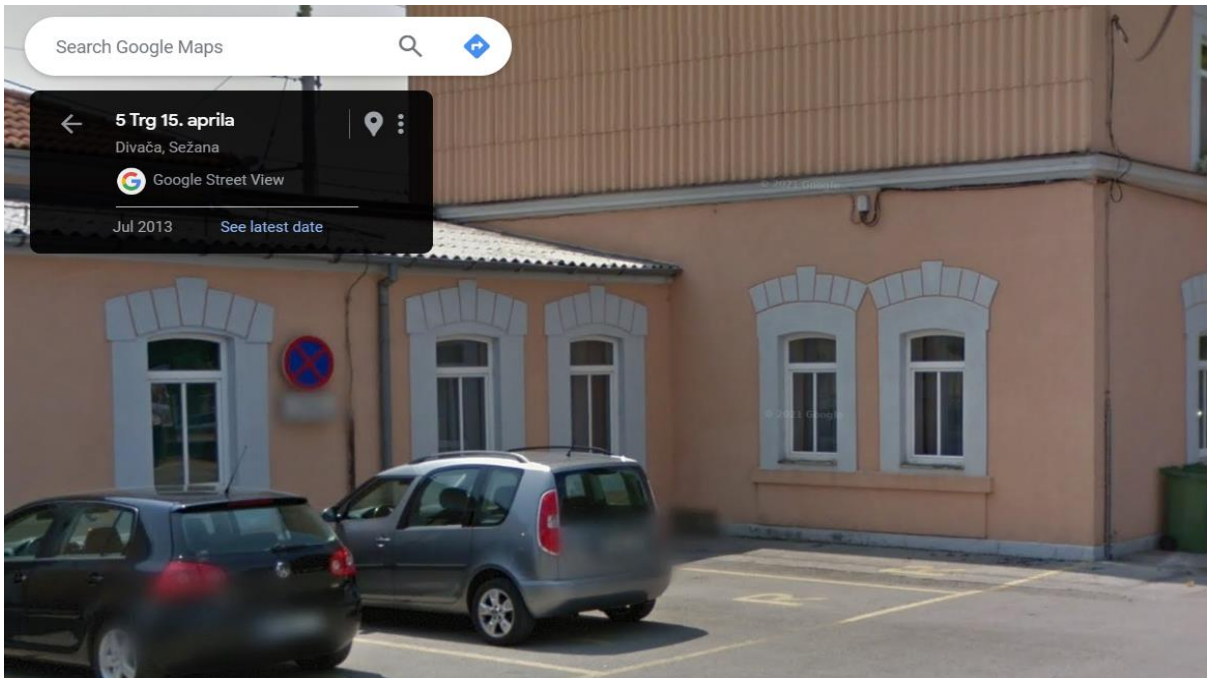

The front of the post office in more detail showing the door pillar on the left side of the window in position and the small pipe is still visible.

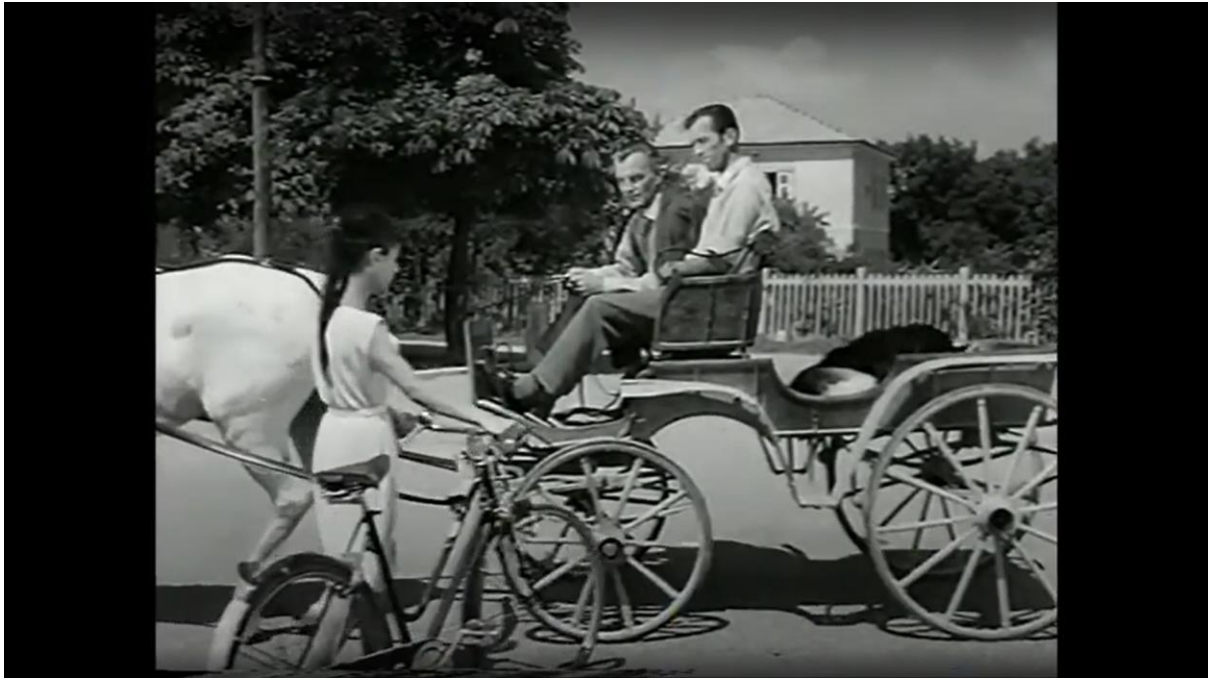

This image is from 2013 and shows the building extended to the right with a new position for the door

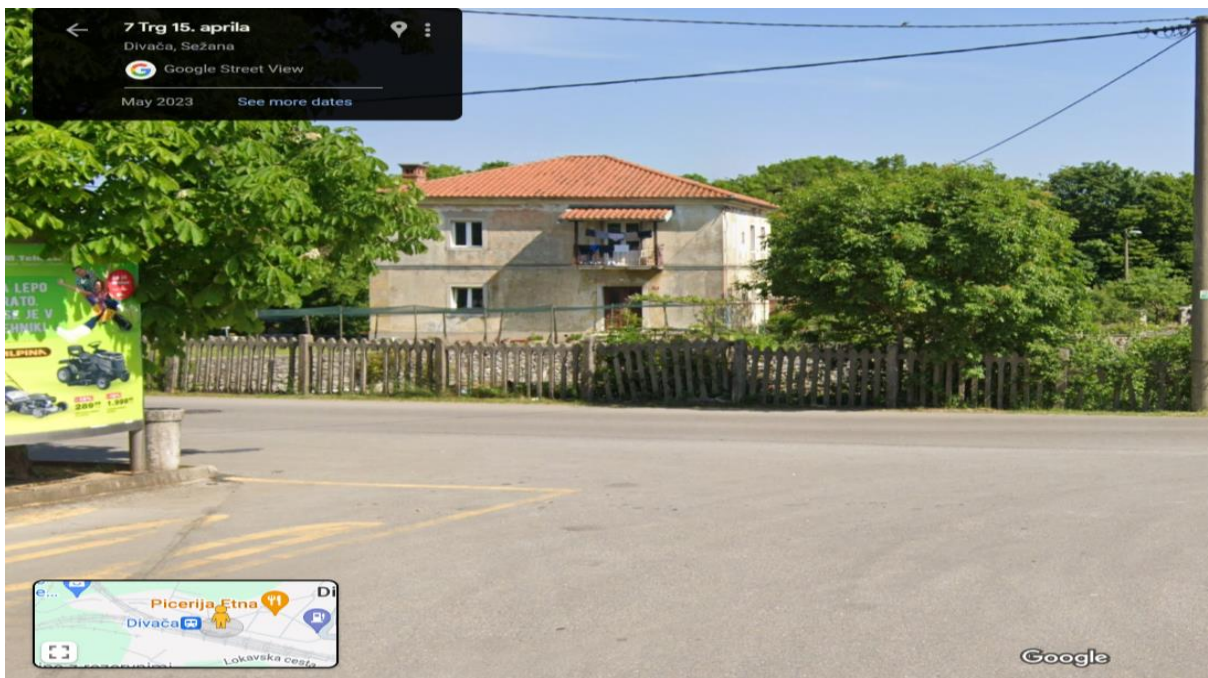

Hektor hears Jelenas fathers voice and jumps out of the window to greet him
Pieno's scooter has somehow moved position to underneath a much bigger window

Still at Divaca station with the post office location just out of this image on the left side
Hektor jumped out of the right hand window and Pienos' scooter was parked on the corner of the building

Jelena has to accept that it's all gone wrong and walks out of the post office to her father and is told to go home

The same location opposite the station

The fence has just about survived the 60 years since series was filmed

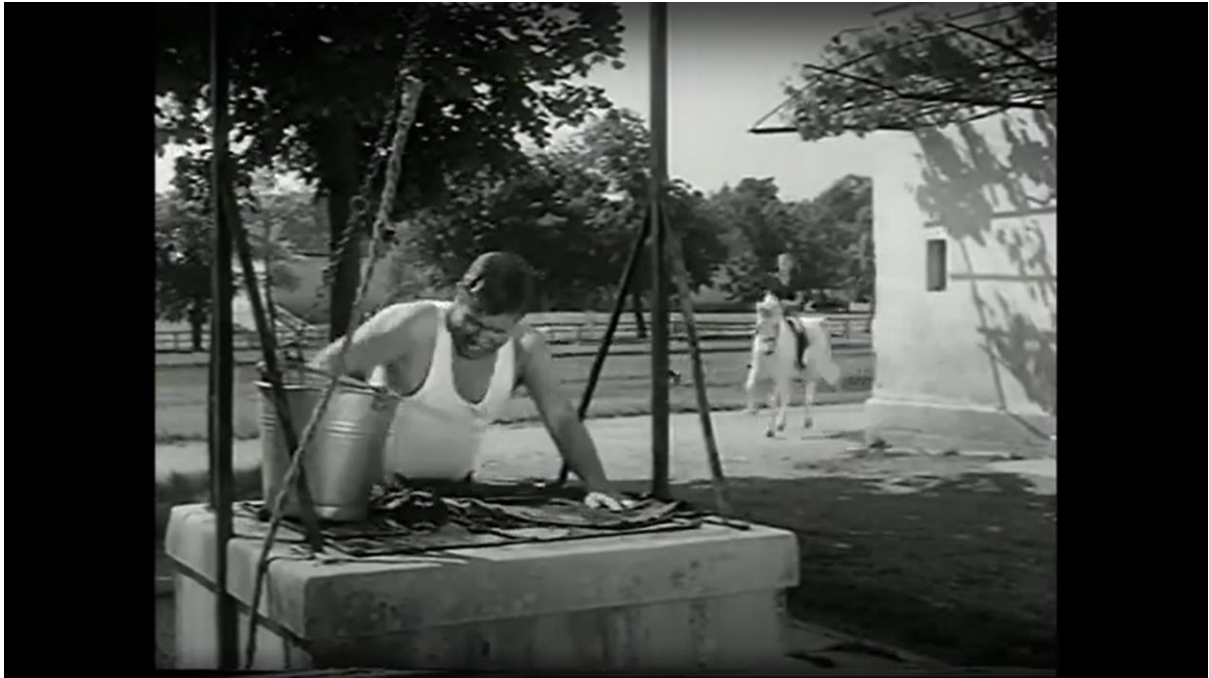

Julia rides through the stud farm to speak to Jelena

Image supplied by Benjamin Znidarcic on Google maps

The location from the reverse angle, Julia was riding up the road towards the building

Julia rushes off to find Stanko after Jelena lies about Hektor having rabies

Image supplied by Robert Krmec on Google maps

This building hasn't changed in over 60 years

Stanko panics and rushes to gather a posse to find and kill Hektor before he can infect the horses

Image supplied by Manfred Kohl on Google maps

The same building today located just below the main courtyard and opposite the apartment block location

The sheltered steps have been renewed and the small balcony removed completely

Returning to the main building Julia hears a gunshot and immediately turns around to find out what happened

Image supplied by Alfred Kolner on Google maps

The very familiar well in the courtyard of the main buildings at Lipica

Hector limps across the Kal after being grazed by the gunshot.
Just above Hektor you can see a tree on the other side of the wall

This image is from 2013 with the tree still in position

Julia finds Hektor and is convinced he isn't rabid. She confronts Stanko and persuades him that something isn't right with Jelenas' story and saves Hektor from certain death

Image supplied by Danijel Olivo on Google maps

Julia was stood just about where the position of the small gap in the wall is now which was not present at the time of filming

All now images are from Google and Bing maps unless otherwise stated